

It has come to my attention that you are considering the importance of radio stations like K-Love to broadcast nation wide over a FM translator.

Since I found this station it has been the center of my sanity in this mixed up world. The music and message that they send out can bring stability to any bad day I am having. They minister to me and all of us that listen. It gives me a choice for upbeat music that my son will enjoy with out having to expose him to the trash that is being sent accross our TV's and radios these days. Most of the music on the other stations is built around a lack of respect for each other and somethims downright hatred. I am not saying that every other station is trash but alot of them are. I personally would be lost with out K-love in by life every day to keep me focused away from all the hectic struggles in the day and on the one who will see me through it all.
